

Dear KLR Design,

AES Global LTD is a widely recognised intercom manufacturer that operates into 50 different countries. Formed in 2005, by an ex-installer. We have been manufacturing a wide range of intercoms from wireless to GSM to IP.

AES has many known loyal and trusted installers across the UK and as such we work with these install companies closer than most of our competitors, which includes access to personalised AES content and product images. Further on from this, KLR Design is a widely known installer to the AES group and is trusted 100% to use our name and product images in advertisement to demonstrate that they can offer Intercoms, drop bolt and Wireless vehicle detectors. As such, we give full permission to use our name and images across multiple platforms such as your website and your advertising campaigns.

I look forward to continuing to support both Paul and Mark with the growth of their business and find their new targeted campaigns refreshing and exciting.

Kind regards,

Kieran Claydon

UK Sales Lead & Northern Sales Manager

